OUTLINES.

Georgia Day was celebrated yesterday at the Jamestown Exposition, President Roosevelt attended and delivered an address on the grounds in the morning and spoke to the National Editorial Association in the afternoon; the American and foreign warships were reviewed by President Roosevelt and Secretary Metcalf, and the ships fired 1,806 guns in salute; the President commended the big improvement in the grounds since his first visit to the Exposition. ——The Princess Anne Hotel, at Virginia Beach, near Norfolk, was totally destroyed by fire early yesterday morning, three persons losing their lives and the 110 guests barely escaping many in their night clothes; a large amount of money and thousands of dollars worth of jewels belonging to the guests were destroyed, as the safe had been left open; besides that loss, Manager A. C. Mitchell, Asheville, N. C., lost $10,000 paid on the lease and the disaster so crazed him that he jumped into the ocean; loss on hotel, $125,000, with $83,000 insurance. ——In the trial of W. D. Haywood, of the Miners' Federation, at Boise, Idaho, yesterday, the defense indicated that they would rely on the improbability of Orchard's testimony about his terrible crimes and at any rate that his story connecting the miners' officials with his crimes was a plot of the mine owners. ——New York markets: Money on call, 1 1-4 to 2 1-4 per cent.; ruling rate, 2; closing bid, 1 1-2; offered at 2; spot cotton, steady, 13.25; flour, dull and about steady; wheat, easy; No. 2 red, 1.01 1-4 elevator; corn, steady; No. 2, 64 1-2 elevator; oats, steady; mixed, 49 1-2 to 50; turpentine, steady; rosin, steady; strained, common to good, 4.65 to 4.80.

The delegates to The Hague Peace Conference should not go there with the determination to take an uncompromising position.

A Detroit bigamist has gone into bankruptcy as the result of trying to support three families. The increased cost of living surely is calculated to break up the game.

Miss Giulia Morosini, a New York society girl, says society women need $100,000 a year for dress. The Star chimes in with her and asserts that they should all be turned loose with just such a wad as the best means of accomplishing the redistribution of wealth.

The State Laundrymen's Association met in Charlotte on yesterday and the address of welcome was delivered by Mayor McNinch. Of course, Mayor McNinch, in order to make them feel like Charlotte is the best town in the State, didn't lose the opportunity to soft-soap the laundrymen.

"How long does a barrel last?" asks the Coopers' Journal. Well, we shouldn't think it wouldn't last very long if a fellow's friends find out Dr. Wiley has stuck on it a certificate to the effect that it more than fulfills the requirements of that Act of Congress passed June 30, 1906.

The Saturday Evening Post contains an article advising men what to do with $1,000. Those married men who've got the thousand and won't have the opportunity of seeing that copy of the Saturday Evening Post, can get a tip equally as good by consulting with their wives for the space of five minutes.

The Star this morning reproduces from the Raleigh Evening Times another timely and valued endorsement of the 30-foot water project for the port of Wilmington. The article will be found on the 3d page of The Star, and as it has the right ring to it, the business men of Wilmington will highly appreciate it.

Under date of Raleigh, Senator F. M. Simmons, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, sends out a call for a meeting of the committee in the Senate Chamber at Raleigh on Monday night, July 8th, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of selecting a chairman to succeed Chairman Simmons, who will tender his resignation at this meeting.

With President Roosevelt nagging at his heels, Harriman went off sulking as if he has had the warmest time of anybody in the country. Yet the Williamston (N. C.) Enterprise tells us that a few days ago Mr. Walter Dupree, while engaged in work to make money to meet the increased cost of living, had a swarm of bees to raise a disturbance with him.

It is said that President Roosevelt expects soon to pick out another liar. We can assure the Taft press agents, however, that he will not be molested in the record he is making as a prevaricator by claiming that he knows for certain that two-thirds of the delegates to the 1908 Republican National Convention will go there instructed to nominate the large gentleman who is Secretary of War and who will take all his insurance under the Roosevelt policy.

NEWS FROM RALEIGH

Governor and Party Returned From Great Celebration at Beaufort Saturday.

THE NORFOLK [illegible]

Will Give Reduced Rates at Least a Trial—Rowland Case Still Object of Interest—The Methodist Orphanage.

Library of Congress

(Special Star Correspondent.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 10.—Governor R. B. Glenn said this morning in commenting on his trip to the great celebration at Beaufort that while the trip was most enjoyable and the people in splendid spirits over the completion of the road to their town, the thing that impressed him most was the cordial relation that clearly exists between the people and the Norfolk & Southern, and the assurance that the officials gave that they will stand by the North Carolina laws and uphold the rates passed by the last Legislature. The Governor says that the fact that the Norfolk & Southern, the smallest of the four great railroad systems doing business in North Carolina can stand the 2 1-4 cent passenger rate, or at least will make a trial of its effects on the finances of the company, should be carefully considered by the courts before perpetual injunctions are granted to either of the other roads in the pending suits.

The Governor left tonight for Norfolk and the Jamestown Exposition to deliver an address before the convention of the National Editorial Association and to formally receive and inspect the North Carolina building which is all ready now for occupany.

The date now set for the hearing of Dr. David S. Rowland and his wife, Mrs. Lillian Rowland, on the charge of poisoning Mrs. Rowland's former husband, Engineer C. R. Strange, is Wednesday, June 12. However, it is not at all certain that the trial will take place at that time as no intimation is given as to whether Chemist Symme will be ready to report at that time on the analysis of the stomach of Strange. The finding of poison in this analysis is the whole foundation for the case except for some suspicious circumstances that would not be in any sense sufficient to hold either of the acoused without the proof of poison that is being sought.

Briefly stated these circumstances are that at the time of Strange's death he came home from a run and ate a hearty breakfast after which he was taken violently ill. Dr. Rowland was called in by Mrs. Strange; neighbors came in but were not allowed to be in the room where the patient, Mrs. Strange and Dr. Rowland were. Strange died and three weeks later Dr. Rowland and the widow went to Norfolk where they registered under an assumed name at one of the hotels and were married there, their real names being usd in the ceremony. The theory of the prosecution is that poison was administered by the wife in the breakfast served to Strange and that by prearrangement Dr. Rowland was called in to see the poisoning successfully finished. The impression is growing here that the prosecution will lose out in this case just as it did in Henderson in the case against Dr. Rowland charging that he poisoned his little son, for even if poison should be found in the stomach of Strange there would be difficulty in directly connecting either Dr. Rowland or his wife with administering it. Mrs. Rowland arrived here this morning from Henderson and will await the trial. She is under $2,000 bond.

Superintendent J. N. Cole, of the North Carolina Methodist Orphanage, said today that there are now 114 children being cared for in the institution. There is room for 150 before additional buildings will be necessary but Dr. Cole says additional room will be imperative very soon now as there are a number of meitorious applications now on file. It is expected that about forty-five of the children will be sent to their relatives to spend several weeks during the Summer, the others remaining in the orphanage all the year round.

EDUCATIONAL AFFAIRS

Meeting of County Board of Education Last Night—Needs of Schools Discussed With Respect to Revenue in Sight.

An important meeting of the County Board of Education was held last night in the office of Superintendent Catlett, in the Court House. It was the regular meeting for the month of June but the object aside from the transaction of routine business was to discuss the situation as to the city and county schools for the ensuing year. It was expected that the members of the two school committees in the city would be present to confer with members of the Board, but on account of the downpour of rain about the time for the meeting to convene, only Mr. James H. Chadbourn, chairman of School Committee No. 2, was present. There were present of the Board Chairman W. H. Sprunt and Mr. George Rountree. Superintendent Catlett and Mr. H. McL. Green, the county treasurer, were also in attendance.

The monthly report of Treasurer Green was submitted, examined and found correct. It shows a balance of $11,452 on hand June 1st to the credit of the county school fund. The apportionment is to be made at the first regular meeting of the Board in July and Chairman Sprunt stated that the Board desired to have members of the committees present in order that the needs of the schools with the growing population of the city might be discussed and some idea gained as to what amount would be required to provide the additional facilities for the coming year. Mr. Chadbourn made a very exhaustive report of the needs in his district and referred to the improvements that were needed in the other city district. A much larger attendance is anticipated next Fall in the city schools and Mr. Chadbourn referred to the need of more rooms and other teachers. The Board heard Mr. Chadbourn with great interest and discussed with him the lack of funds to carry on the work of improvements and enlargements that the situation seems to demand. The idea of a local tax election was advanced, but nothing definite as to tihs has as yet been decided upon. Professor Catlett also presented the needs of the rural schools in the way of building improvements but the Board was simply confronted with the fact that there is only so much revenue on hand and could give no assurance to the gentlemen requesting the extra amounts. After a long discussion, they were instructed to make all necessary repairs and alterations but no new work or enlargements could be authorized.

At the meeting in July the apportionment will be made and it will be known then definitely what to expect in the way of increased revenues from the new assessment of property this year. The Board will then do the very best that it can to meet the requirements of all the institutions. At this meeting the members of the Board, who were re-appointed at the late session of the Legislature, will organize as a new Board and committeemen for the various districts will be named.

It is estimated upon an intimation from the tax assessors for Wilmington township that the increase this year in taxable values will be about one million dollars in real estate and about once million in values that are sent down from the State Auditor, consisting of bonds, stocks, etc. The assessment for school purposes in the county is 18 cents on the one hundred dollars, so that it is seen with even the increased valuation, the revenue for schools will be increased only about $3,600.

DAHMER A SUICIDE

Young Man in Fit of Depression Ended His Own Life Yesterday Afternoon.

SHOT HIMSELF IN TEMPLE

Upstairs Over Moving Picture Theatre on Market Street Scene of Gruesome Tragedy—Disappeared Once Before in May.

J. Fred Dahmer, 20 years of age, associated with his step-father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lillycrop, who lately came to this city from Charlotte, in the conduct of The Odeon, a moving picture theatre on Market street, in a fit of depression yesterday afternoon between 5 and 6 o'clock committed suicide upstairs over his place of business by shooting himself in the right temple, death ensuing almost instantaneously. It was late in the evening and there were few, if any, people in the picture theatre on the first floor when the tragedy was enacted just above. Mrs. Lillcrop and a boy employed about the place ran downstairs and out to the street crying that a man had shot himself on inside and asked if someone would not come in and see what could be done. A great crowd collected in front of the place and the doors were closed, only Policemen Ford, Jones, employes of theatre and newspaper men being admitted until the coroner could arrive. On the second floor, just outside of a portion of the hall curtained off as living apartments for the family lay the body of the young man, face up, a great hole about an inch and a half in front of the right ear being visible and blood flowing freely from this in a puddle on the floor. Mr. and Mrs. Lillycrop, several employes, the officers and others awaited until the coroner, Dr. C. D. Bell, could arrive. Dr. Bell took the statements of all who had seen the tragedy and upon the opinion of the boy's own mother that it was a clear case of suicide, an inquest was deemed unnecessary and the body was turned over to the family for burial.

From the best information obtainable from those who witnessed the tragedy, young Dahmer felt a little pique at his step-father, Mr. Lillycrop, for re-instating as an employe about the machine a young boy named Carl Smith, 14 or 15 years of age. Young Dahmer had discharged Smith, but Mr. Lillycrop had put him back on the machine.

The boy, Mr. Dahmer and Mr. Lillycrop had gone up the steps from the rear of the theatre and were in the hallway. Dahmer complained to his mother that he did not seem of much use about the place anyway and spoke of his feeling of depression for a long time. He went to a trunk which sat just outside of the part partitioned off, and took therefrom a cheap pistol of 32 calibre. The boy, Carl Smith, who had gone up to see whether he would be continued at the machine or not, says that Mrs. Lillycrop, Dahmer's mother, first took the pistol away from her son and put it back in the trunk. It was thought that the trouble had about blown over when suddenly young Dahmer again lifted the lid of the trunk, placed the revolver to his head and pulled the trigger. His mother, who had turned her back for the moment, turned in time to catch her son in her arms as he sank to the floor. He is said to have murmured good-bye to his mother as he sank down, but within a brief time he was dead. A physician could hardly have reached him had one been immediately in front. Mr. Lillycrop and the boy at the time of the shot were at the other end of the room and hastened forward to see what they could do, but it was seen that the young man was dead and they hastened to the street to give the alarm. Mr. Lillycrop has but one leg on account of a street car accident at his home in Charlotte some years ago, and could not reach the street as soon as did the boy and Mrs. Lillycrop. Soon after Coroner Bell viewed the remains Undertaker W. E. Yopp was summoned and the body was removed to his establishment on Princess street, where they were prepared for burial. It is likely that the remains may be shipped to Charlotte for interment, but this will be decided by the family this morning.

Young Dahmer has threatened suicide many times recently. It will be recalled that he came here from Charlotte a few months ago and opened the moving theatre on Market street with young C. W. Stonebanks. They worked hard and energetically, but fate seemed to be against them, and in a fit of despondency at the failure of his venture, mysteriously disappeared from his boarding house one midnight about the first of May, writing his mother a letter in Charlotte and telling her that he was tired of life and that she would probably find his body in Princess street dock. Mrs. Lillycrop came to Wilmington at once and for four days and nights nothing was heard of the man. Suddenly he turned up at his boarding house on Market street as mysteriously as he had gone. He was unable to give any account of himself, and has since that time spoken little of his absence. It was learned, however, that in a fit of melancholia he had wandered off into the woods between Wilmington and Castle Haynes. He was attended by a physician and seemed to be all right. His mother was soon joined here by her husband, Mr. J. H. Lillycrop, a produce commission merchant in Charlotte. Mr. Lillycrop learned of the lease on the place by young Dahmer and was anxious that he should live down the unfortunate occurrence in his life. He accordingly took hold of the moving picture show, and with Mrs. Lillycrop they had attained some measure of success until the sad tragedy of yesterday afternoon. It was their purpose to put young Dahmer on his feet and then return to their home in Charlotte. Mr. Lillycrop was firm in his dealings with the step-son, and hoped that the little incident of the discharge of the boy yesterday afternoon would amount to nothing. But it seemed to have been the trifling disappointment that suddenly took fresh hold upon the diseased mind of the young man he and resorted to the rash act described to put an end to his existence. He was a young man of quiet disposition, was anxious to succeed, and was popular among his associates He was a member of the Charlotte Camp, Woodmen of the World, and the branch of the order in this city will probably assist with the funeral arrangements that will be made today. The remains may be taken to Charlotte or may be interred here.

Mrs. Lillycrop, mother of the young man, is a sister of Mr. Louis Sallings, of this city, formerly a sergeant of police, and of Mrs. S. A. Anderson, 114 South Eighth street. Young Dahmer's father, Mr. Fred Dahmer, at one time managed the hotel at the Hammocks, Wrightsville Beach. His mother married a second time Mr. Lillycrop, after the family moved to Charlotte. One brother lives in Charlotte and has been telegraphed news of the tragedy. He is expected here today. The bereaved ones have the sympathy of the community in the deep sorrow that has come to them. Mrs. Lillycrop bore up under her suffering yesterday afternoon with remarkable fortitude and remained near the body of her son until it was removed to the undertaker's room. Last night she and Mr. Lillycrop went to the home of Mrs. Anderson, the theatre having been closed.

MONDAY'S POLICE COURT

Usual Large Number of Cases Before Mayor Springer Yesterday—Demi-Mondes Fined $10 and Costs Each—Stole Candy.

In the police court yesterday C. H. McRay, colored, charged with being drunk and disorderly in Love's alley was fined $5 and costs.

Bill Mott, white, charged with the same offense at Twelfth and Market streets, also contributed $5 to the city treasury.

Walter Shepard, colored, charged with an assault on a negro woman, Matilda Shepard, at Fifth and Nixon streets, was fined $5 and costs.

Violet McLary and Mabel Swann, two white women of questionable character who engaged in an affray at Tenth and Chesnut streets before day Sunday morning and were arrested by Officer M. C. Gray, were each fined $10 and costs.

Lena Gore and Mary Hives, colored, were charged with disorderly conduct. The former was fined $5 and costs and the last mentioned was discharged.

Richard James, colored, for disorderly conduct at Front and Dock streets, was taxed with the costs.

Charles Green was arrested Saturday night by Officer Louis Friemuth, for the larceny of two pails of candy from the Atlantic Coast Line but the case was continued until Wednesday. Green was found with a bucket of candy labelled "Love Drops," and another labelled "Ice Caramels," both of which were offered for sale at 75 cents. Officers I. F. Huggins and W. R. Appleberry believed 75 cents per bucket was too cheap for "love drops" and arrested Green on suspicion. Yesterday afternoon on Second, between Dock and Orange streets, Officer Huggins arrested Albert Green, colored, charged with implication in the same theft. The buckets were shipped by the Crescent Candy Company, of this city, via Atlantic Coast Line.

To Court of Last Resort.

It is stated that the motion of Thos. W. Davis, counsel for the railroad company, that the defendants be allowed to file written answers to the various penalty suits against the Atlantic Coast Line in the Superior Court, means that these cases will be taken to the tribunal of last resort in this country—the United States Supreme Court in Washington. Written or printed answers to the complaints are expected to be filed in the Superior Court within the next few days. It is stated that Mr. Davis will contend that the penalty act as it applied to the whole State prior to its amendment by the last Legislature was unconstitutional.

Bryant-Burriss Controversy.

The turpentine controversy between Messrs. L. M. Bryant and Jas. H. Burriss was heard before Justice John J. Furlong yesterday at noon. It will be recalled that Mr. Burriss charges Bryant with dipping and removing turpentine from his lands in Federal Point township and that Bryant claims the lands upon which he is operating. Messrs. Marsden Bellamy and H. McClammy appeared for Bryant and the prosecution was looked after by Walter P. Gafford, Esq.

ALDERMEN TO-NIGHT

Special Meeting of Board Called For This Evening at City Hall.

CONSIDER SEVERAL MATTERS

Formally Elect Members of Street Commission, Dispose of City Team and Hear Petition of Chamber of Commerce.

Mayor Springer yesterday afternoon issued the call for the special meeting of the Board of Aldermen which he gave notice last week that he would convene in special session tonight at 8 o'clock to consider several important matters that are on the municipal calendar for the week.

The call sets forth that the meeting is for the formal election of the members of the Street Comission agreed on in conference Saturday night; for the consideration of the request of the Chamber of Commerce for an appropriation of $1,000, with which to further the project of a 30-foot depth of water from Wilmington to sea as a measure of interest to the State at large, and to consider the advisability of disposing of such teams in the Sanitary and Streets and Whaves departments as are not now needed under the contract system that will be inaugurated in these branches of the public service.

While all these matters are such as have been practically agreed upon, there are many details to be worked out and it is expected that the session will last for an hour or more, Other business than that specified in the call can only be taken up by unanimous consent. Under this head may come the petition of the Red Men to hold a carnival here during the Firemen's Tournament and several other questions held in abeyance from the regular meeting on the first Monday night. It is stated that the Directors of the Merchants' Association at their meeting last week decided to fight the proposition to have the carnival here and have authorized their attorney, Louis Goodman, Esq., to go before the Board and oppose the petition. The Red Men will be prepared for any move of this sort and if the subject is broached there will be lively times on the Board. However, the Aldermen may decide that it will not take this matter up at present and will defer it to other special meetings that will undoubtedly have to be held before the regular session in July.

As to letting the street cleaning out by contract, this matter has already passed the two Boards and a contract being drawn by the City Attorney will be signed by Messrs. Woolard & Furlong, the successful bidders, after the committee has been authorized to make the sale of the mules that will not be needed when the work is given out by contract. Chairman W. H. Yopp, of the Sanitary Committee, has been out of the city attending the Confederate reunion and the Jamestown Exposition, but upon his return to his office yesterday he had a conference with Mr. Furlong, of the contracting firm, and it is expected that arrangements will be made for the transfer of the contract at once as was recommended by the Board of Audit and Finance in passing the award to these gentlemen.

The Board will also tonight incidentally pass upon the proposition of the Commissioner of the Sinking Fund to provide the newly elected Street Commission with funds for carrying on the work under the arrangement outlined in Sunday's paper.

AN INSISTENT BURGLAR.

Attempt at Residence of Mr. C. H. Holsenback Last Night.

An unusually bold attempt was made last night about half after nine o'clock to enter the residence of Mr. C. H. Holsenback, No. 504 Ann street. Mr. Holsenback is employed at the postoffice and had not returned home at the time, Mrs. Holsenback being the only grown person in the house at the time except her father who was sick in bed. About the hour named Mrs. Holsenback heard some one tugging violently at a lattice door to the rear of the house and thinking that it was some of the neighbors, who, perhaps, might want to get in to use the telephone as they do sometimes, she went to the door and asked who was there. She received no reply and the would-be burglar kept up his tugging at the door. She became alarmed at this and upon her call for help the man ran off. It was later ascertained when Mr. Holsenback arrived in response to a telephone message to the postoffice that the person who endeavored to enter the residence had broken down a gate from the rear and had made a violent attempt to get inside. Had Mrs. Holsenback not taken the precaution to inquire who was without when she went to the door the burglar would doubtless have done her violence when she opened the door.

Mr. Holsenback is very much outraged at the occurrence and reported the matter at once to the police station. Police Sergeant C. S. Burnett is at work on the case, and though the clue is slight he hopes to make an arrest. Mr. Holsenback offers a reward of $10 for the arrest and evidence sufficient to convict the guilty party.

FOR A DEEPER CHANNEL.

In an editorial under the above caption, the Charlotte Chronicle says:

"The business interests of Wilmington are moving for a 30-foot channel from that port to the sea. The Cape Fear from Wilmington to Southport is easy of improvement and a 30-foot channel can be secured with a comparatively small amount of dredging. Once the channel is cut through the few 'ridges' that cross the river bottom the flow of the tide, aided by a system of jetties, would keep it open and tend to graudally deepen it, as is the case in the Charleston channel. The port of Wilmington ought to be prepared for big ships by the time the Panama canal is opened, and this movement of the people of that town to get the work of deepening the channel started should enlist the aid of the entire State. Wilmington is destined to become a great seaport, and the people of North Carolina should be alert to any opportunity which presents itself to hasten the day."

The Chronicle is always saying a good word for Wilmington, for its editor, Mr. Wade H. Harris, once did newspaper work in our city and many of our citizens remember him very kindly, although the city has grown so much lately and he has been away so long the new comers know of him only as the editor of Charlotte's fine afternoon newspaper. What he says of Wilmington ever and anon is highly appreciated and Wilmington lays much store by his good word and valuable endorsement. He not only speaks out of kindness, but for the good of North Carolina, for no editor in the State is better posted on the possibilities of the port of Wilmington and when he writes he knows that it is for the benefit of the whole State to have such a port as a 30-foot channel would give us.

The Chronicle is quite right that Wilmington will need that 30-foot channel in her business when the Panama Canal is completed. However, it is not for that remote project that we are now pulling for deeper water. The fact is the business of Wilmington as the fourth cotton exporting port in the United States warrants it as a means of further developing the cotton business that is coming here, but the necessity which demands deeper water right away has been brought about by the fact that Wilmington is soon to have direct rail connection with the coal regions, and is to be made a coaling station. That makes deep water urgent, for even now the hundreds of steamers passing from South Atlantic and Gulf ports would haul into this port to coal in order to avoid going around Hatteras. Trans-Atlantic cotton steamers already come off our port bound over, and it is a matter of the greatest importance to the commercial interests of the South and Southwest to have these steamers coal at Wilmington. They would thus not only avoid the dangers of Hatteras, but would save from one to two days on a voyage across the ocean.

The Cape Fear river and bar is susceptible of the contemplated 30-foot depth, for Captain W. H. Bixby, corps of United States engineers, once in charge of the river and harbor improvements at Wilmington, declared frequently that it was an easy feat of engineering to secure here all the water that was necessary to float the biggest ships. It is significant also that one of the movers for the 30-foot channel is Major E. W. VanC. Lucas, who some few years ago succeeded Captain Bixby here in charge of river and harbor improvements. That capable engineering officer and Captain Bixby are mighty good witnesses for the feasibility and the necessity for that 30 feet of water for the commercial interests of Wilmington.

THE SOUTH AND WESTERN ROAD

The Charlotte Observer of yesterday has this to say about the progress of construction on the South and Western Railroad—the new coal road upon which Wilmington is at present banking so heavily:

"The work of building the South & Western Railroad, from Sprucepine to Marion, progresses slowly but surely. There is light in 22 tunnels and the laying of rail between Marion and Catawba river has commenced. Four miles of track from Sprucepine to Altapas is in operation. It is said that it will be about 18 months before trains will cross the mountains, coming from Sprucepine to Marion, but if the time for hauling coal direct from the coal fields to the cotton mills is that close at hand the people of the piedmont region have cause to rejoice. The completion of the South & Western will mean much to the people of this section of the South.

"Some of the men who control the Seaboard Air Line Railway are building the South & Western. This spells something good for Charlotte. The new line will strike the old Carolina Central at Bostic, in Rutherford county. It is safe to say that, by the time the South & Western touches at Bostic, the Carolina Central track between that point and Monroe will have been put in first class condition. It is believed by men who have minds for railroad details that the Seaboard people will improve the Carolina Central clear to Wilmington and make that the port to which coal will be hauled.

"In the construction of their road the South & Western people are building for the future, and preparing to haul heavy trains at a maximum cost. There are to be no trestles; culverts and fills will be used. The watershed in every instance is being surveyed, so that no mistakes will be made in putting in culverts.

"More than 2,000 men are at work on the South & Western. The construction is being pushed forward as rapidly as possible under the circumstances."

One of the officials of the South & Western recently stated that its construction would be more costly than any road ever built in the South. It is costing a mint of money to tunnel the mountains and span the valleys, and as the road throughout almost its entire length is through the roughest mountain country east of the Mississippi it can be realized what a stupendous undertaking the new coal road is. It will not only cost an immense amount of treasure, but its construction has also called for the sacrifice of many lives. Speaking of the dangerous work in which the building force has been engaged the Observer says:

"It has been said that the number of accidents and casualties on that road have been greater than was ever known in this section of the country. The death rate has been something like four or five a week. Thirteen persons were killed up there by a powder explosion some time ago."

The time for the completion of the South & Western has been given at from 12 to 18 months. Even should it not be completed until the longest period, the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce has none too soon launched its movements for 30 feet of water in the Cape Fear from the wharves of Wilmington out to sea.

CURRENT COMMENT

—The truck lands around Norfolk do not look as clean as those about Wilmington. The North Carolina truckers also have the most attractive homes.—Charlotte Chronicle.

—"The Prevaricator," by Henry James, is to be issued soon. The publisher will overlook a bet if he doesn't present Mr. Roosevelt with a copy and get a red-hot criticism in return that will aid in selling the book.—Washington Post.

—Anybody can get amusement out of a barrel. Give one to a boy, and he'll build a bonfire; to a woman, and she'll construct a chair; to a fool, and he'll go over Niagara Falls; to a man and he'll trade it for a seat in the Senate. The barrel is an article that pleases all tastes.—Washington Herald.

—"The president, we are now told, has expressed his willingness to accept another nomination in case a serious war cloud shall rise above the horizon next year. That being the case it is now up to his worshippers to manufacture the war scare—and they will probably do it."—Montgomery Advertiser.

—The Times-Dispatch has cautioned its readers to be not hasty in drawing conclusions from the horrible confession of Harry Orchard. A man so utterly depraved as Orchard would not hesitate to swear away another man's life, if it suited his purpose or his whim to do so. There is little doubt that he had a part in at least some of the crimes to which he has confessed, but neither the jury nor the public will convict Haywood and others accused upon the unsupported testimony of this human monster.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

—The trip of the Engineering Society of the Carolinas today to the new electro-hydraulic development at Catawba Falls marks an epoch in the matter of power, available for manufacturing in this section. The Southern Power Company, which has just completed a 40,000-horse power plant, is the host of the occasion and the visiting engineers will number near seventy-five. The starting up of this new power plant makes a great natural force and resource at once available for us.—Charlotte Observer, June 10.

TWINKLINGS.

—"Do you enjoy walking?" "Immensely!" "Good! Then I'll take you for a ride in the country in my motor car!"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

—The Limit: "Do you believe a husband has the right to beat his wife?" "Certainly—at her own game."—Baltimore American.

—No Extra Change: Custimer (in a restaurant)—Look here waiter, I've found a button in this salad. Waiter—That's all right, sir; it's a part of the dressing.—Stray Stories.

—Turn About: Wife: "Karl, when I go to the Rivera I will dream of you every night." Husband: "I would rather you stayed here and dream of the Riviera.—Meggendorfer Blaetter.

—An Insinuation, All Right: Nell: "Yes, she said her husband married her for her beauty. What do you think of that?" Bell: "Well, I think her husband must feel like a widower now."—Catholic Standard and Times.

—A Poor Learner: "Dubley says his motto is, 'Live and learn.'" "Well, if he isn't more successful at the former than the latter we'll be going to his funeral soon."—Philadelphia Press.

—"What can we do to improve the present method of dancing?" thundered the parson, "dancing is mere hugging set to music." "We might cut out the music," softly suggested the bad young man in the rear of the hall."—Answers.

LOW NECK CLAMS.

A Joke That Met a Man Who Had a Feeble Sense of Humor.

An ex-governor of Wisconsin, famous as a story teller, once rejoiced a company of friends with an account of his experience at a New Jersey clambake. At the clambake there were plenty of people who enjoyed the speech of the Wisconsin man, but there was one serious minded listener on whom it fell flat.

"I started off," said the ex-governor, telling the story, "by stating that I had eaten so many of their low neck clams that I wasn't in the least sort of condition for speechmaking. At that moment a long faced old man directly across the table scowled at me and said in a stage whisper:

"'Little neck clams, little necks, not low necks!'

"I paid no attention to him and went on with my remarks. After dinner he followed me out of the hall.

"'You're from Wisconsin, aren't you?' he asked.

"'Yes,' I answered.

"'Don't have many clams out there, I reckon?'

"'Well,' I said, 'we have some, but it's a good way to water, and in driving them across the country their feet get sore and they don't thrive very well.'

"'Why, man alive,' said he, 'clams haven't any feet!'

"Soon after that he buttonholed one of my friends.

"'Is that fellow governor of Wisconsin?' he demanded.

"My friend admitted that I was.

"'Waal,' said he, 'p'r'aps he may be a smart enough man for Wisconsin, but he's a good deal of a fool at the seashore!'"

TESTED HIS LIBERALITY.

And the Host In Turn Tested His Guests' Generosity.

A rather parsimonious gentleman got the better of some of his acquaintances, who were continually pestering him about his niggardliness. Goaded to desperation by their taunts, he one day invited his detractors to a dinner. When they made their appearance they were simply astonished at the magnificence of the treat provided. Apologies were tendered, and the miserly individual was warmly complimented as well.

"Now, gentlemen," said the host when acknowledging their compliments, "you have put my liberality to a test. I am going to try your generosity. I know a poor man who is very much in need of financial help through untoward circumstances, and I propose to raise a subscription in his behalf. See, I commence the list with 10 shillings. Will you help?"

Needless to say every one subscribed liberally, as no one cared to be thought more close fisted than the host, who, when he had collected all the money, coolly said:

"I thank you, gentlemen, for your sympathy, and now I think we are quits. You have paid both for your joke and your dinner. It was I who required the money."—London Mail.

GIVING OUT.

The Struggle Discourages Many a Citizen of Wilmington.

Around all day with an aching back;
Can't rest at night;
Enough to make any one "give out."
Doan's Kidney Pills will give renewed life.
They will cure the backache;
Cure every kidney ill.
Here is Wilmington proof that this is so:

E. Poezolt, merchant tailor of Eight South Front street, residing at 315 North Sixth street, Wilmington, N. C., says: "My wife used Doan's Kidney Pills and in her case they proved to be an effective remedy. She suffered with her ankles and could scarcely get down stairs in the morning. We thought it was rheumatism, and her ankles would be all pulled up every morning, so she could hardly hobble around. Since obtaining Doan's Kidney Pills at R. R. Bellamy's drug store and taking them she seems like another person. She is better in the morning, the swelling left her ankles and from the great relief she obtained we are only too glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to others."

TIRED AND SICK YET MUST WORK

MRS. AUG. LYON

"Man may work from sun to sun but woman's work is never done."

In order to keep the home neat and pretty, the children well dressed and tidy, women overdo and often suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have help to overcome the pains and aches which daily make life a burden.

It is to these women that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, comes as a blessing. When the spirits are depressed, the head and back aches, there are dragging-down pains, nervousness, sleeplessness, and reluctance to go anywhere, these are only symptoms which unless heeded, are soon followed by the worst forms of Female Complaints.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

keeps the feminine organism in a strong and healthy condition. It cures Inflammation, Ulceration, displacements, and organic troubles. In preparing for child-birth and to carry women safely through the Change of Life it is most efficient.

Mrs. Augustus Lyon, of East Earl, Pa., writes:— Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"For a long time I suffered from female troubles and had all kinds of aches and pains in the lower part of back and sides, I could not sleep and had no appetite. Since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and following the advice which you gave me I feel like a new woman and I cannot praise your medicine too highly."

Mrs. Pinkham's Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Out of her vast volume of experience she probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Her advice is free and always helpful.

30 FOOT WATER FOR WILMINGTON

Movement of Chamber of Commerce is Truly State Project—Every Commercial Organization in State Should Urge It.

(Raleigh Evening Times.)

The Wilmington Chamber of Commerce held a meeting this week, at which was launched a movement for a project of a 30-foot depth of water from Wilmington to the sea. At the present time vessels drawing twenty-two feet can come into Wilmington, and last year congress was prevailed upon to adopt a 24-foot project, but it is realized that this is inadequate, and for the port and interior cities to enjoy what they are entitled to will require a 30-foot project.

This is a matter that should not be left to Wilmington and the congressmen in the east alone, but should be urged by every commercial organization in the State of North Carolina. It is not a local measure, as many believe, but is of state wide importance, and every merchant and manufactuer should feel a deep interest in the movement.

At the present time interstate rates are based on Norfolk or some other Virginia point, and rates that will place North Carolina in competition with Virginia can never be assured until some gateway is established. The merchant who will stop for a moment and think of this fact will readily see its importance, and when the people get back of a movement something will be done, for an astute politician ever keeps his ear close to the ground and is guided by what the people espouse. There is no town in North Carolina that can hope to become a gateway except Wilmington, at least not for many years to come, and for this reason the state as a whole should put its shoulder to the wheel and make a determined fight in congress for the desied measure.

The United States has not kept pace in the development of her waterways within recent years with some of the countries of continental Europe, and this is especially true when comparison is made with Germany, a country that has made the most wonderful progress during recent years from a commercial standpoint. This is believed to be due to the lack of interest shown in interior points, the fight for river and harbor appropriations being left alone to those representatives who either represent some district along the coasts or on some large and navigable stream. Find a section of the country where the waterways have been developed and there will be found a prosperous people.

We hope that the commercial organizations of North Carolina will realize the importance of this measure to the state as a whole and will use their influence to bring about the desired result.

THE PIANOFORTE.

A Direct Descendant of the Clavichord and Harpsichord.

The pianoforte was directly evolved from the clavichord and the harpsichord. In 1711 Scipione Maffei gave a detailed account of the first four instruments, which were built by Bartolommeo Cristofori, named by him pianoforte, and exhibited in 1709.

Marius in France exhibited harpsichords, with hammer action, in 1716, and Schroter in Germany claimed to have invented the pianoforte between 1717 and 1721. Marius at first was generally credited with the invention, for it was not until 1738, when Cristofori's instruments had become famous, that the Italian advanced his claim, and it was in 1763 that he brought forward the proof of his contention.

Pianos of that period were shaped like the modern grand, the first square piano being built by Freiderica, an organ builder of Saxony, in 1758. The first genuine upright was patented in England and the United States by John Isaac Hawkins, an Englishman, in 1800.—Scrap Book.

Lord Erskine.

From midshipman to lord chancellor is a very far cry. Lord Erskine, however, whom Lord Campbell once described as the greatest advocate of ancient or modern times, did not find much difficulty in reaching the Woolsack, although he started life as a "middy" and did not settle down to study law until he was twenty-five years of age. His defense of Captain Baillie, prosecuted for his exposures of gross abuses at the admiralty, raised him from an obscure lawyer to a foremost position at the bar, and thirty briefs were offered him before he left the court. From that time until he became chancellor in 1806 his career was marked by a long list of successes.—London Standard.

OPENING OF ACADEMY.

Five-Cent Theatre Season Was Begun Last Night—Moving Pictures.

The opening of the Summer season at the Academy of Music last night was a success in spite of the very inclement weather. While, of course, the crowd was limited, those who were present were well pleased with the features of entertainment that will be put on at the house by Messrs. Cowan Brothers this Summer. The lobby has been nicely fitted up and furnished with white enameled fittings and in a delightful little Summer garden into which the entrance of the theatre has been transformed various refreshments will be served including ice cream, ice cream sandwiches, etc. The lobby and the main auditorium have been fitted with electric fans and everything possible been done to make the environment all that is required during the heated period. The lawn in front of the building has been furnished with rustic settees and park benches and ice water will be furnished free of charge to those who desire to visit the park afternoons and evenings.

The main attraction is a moving picture show in the main auditorium of the house. The managers have formed a valuable connection with a Chicago firm and will change the views thrice weekly on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings. The charge is only five cents and the best and most up-to-date in moving picture photography is presented. The house will be served by uniformed attendants and there is an air of up-to-dateness about the entire theatre that will be pleasing to all who care to drop in to spend pleasantly an afternoon or evening. Illustrated songs will be a feature of each afternoon's and evening's bill and the charge for all will be only five cents. The Academy theatre and park promises to be delightful places to while away the time during the Summer.

New Moving Picture Theatre.

It is understood that Messrs. J. J. and W. C. Moore, members of the Police Department, have decided to open a moving picture theatre of the popular type operated downtown on Fourth street, between Brunswick and Bladen. They will not give their time to the operation of the theatre but will have a manager to look after it for them.

THE SOUTHERN LIFE.

Proposition to Remove Headquarters Stirs Up Fayetteville People.
(Special Star Telegram.)

Fayetteville, N. C., June 10.—Since Saturday morning it has been rumored on the streets of this city that a plan was afloat with a view of moving the Southern Life Insurance Company, from Fayetteville to Savannah, Ga. These reports have since proven authentic and have ceased to be merely rumors. It is well known that a certain party has bought in a large part of the stock of this company and has been offering large figures for same, so as to gain the controlling interest to accomplish the movement to Savannah. This project was received not only unfavorably by the citizens here but was very unpleasing to a large number who reside in the nearby towns who are more or less interested in the company. At an informal meeting held by the following trustees of the company here this afternoon Mr. E. H. Williamson, W. A. Vanstory, A. L. James, R. D. Caldwell, J. W. McLauchlin, A. R. McEachern and W. J. Johnson, it was decided that a pool be formed of the $111,000 of the $165, represented and an agreement was signed to this effect to retain the company at Fayetteville. The people who have been instrumental in the rapid growth of this enterprise feel it only their due that the headquarters of the company be permitted to remain at the place of its birth, considering the fact that it has been due to their labor that the company is today one of the most successful enterprises of the South in so much as it has several successful agencies in various Southern cities which have always done an excellent business.

THE WAITER.

An Enviable Job, His, According to One of the Profession.

"Why do the young men of America sneer at the waiter's calling?" said the quiet man in the black swallowtail coat. "A waiter can travel all over the world, become a superb linguist and easily earn from $25 to $50 a week. Yet the young clerk or salesman, with 'eight per' and no future, sneers at him.

"When I was a young chap my good mother wanted me to take a job in a department store selling collars. Not I. I said I'd be a waiter. And my mother was shocked.

"Yet look at me. As a waiter I travel wherever I wish. One winter I'm in Egypt, the next on the Riviera, the next in Rome. Spring finds me in Paris, and thence I leap the channel in time for the London season. In the autumn I am back in America again with full pockets.

"I have learned French, German and Italian. I have made friends with many rich, intelligent, amiable people. I have seen the world, and I earn $2,000 a year. Yet clerks and counter jumpers think they can sneer at me. They had better learn my trade."—New York Press.

She Had Many Suitors.

Napoleon III., when he was living in London; the Duke d'Aumale, Lord Beaconsfield and many other conspicuous figures of the nineteenth century are on record as having been among the suitors for the hand of Miss Burdett-Coutts, who afterward became baroness, and it is doubtful whether any woman ever received so large a number of matrimonial offers as the baroness. In fact, they became a positive nuisance, and in 1847 she was compelled to bring legal proceedings against a lawyer of the name of Richard Dunn, who, according to the terms of the indictment, had for eight years prosecuted her with most unwelcome attentions with a view to matrimony. Dunn was sent to prison for eighteen months, although there is no doubt that he was, while sane in other matters, perfectly crazy on the subject of Miss Burdett-Coutts, as she was then, and particularly on the subject of her fortune.—Chicago Tribune.

Time to Compromise.

In McIntosh county, Ga., there was a lawsuit about a cow. The cow was dead, but the lawsuit went on. It was decided by the justice of the peace, appealed, remanded, decided again and once more appealed and remanded. This went on until the case came back to the squire for the eleventh time. It was a jury case, and when the last trial was on the squire astonished the attorney by announcing an indefinite postponement, saying:

"This case has exhausted the whole jury venire of the county, and you will have to wait until the coming generation gets old enough for jury duty."

Then the litigants compromised.—New York Sun.

De Nerval's Pet Lobster.

A few days before Gerard de Nerval was found dead in a narrow, dirty street of Paris he was seen walking in the Palais Royal, dragging after him by means of a blue ribbon a live lobster. To a friend who accused him of madness he replied: "Why is a lobster any more ridiculous than a cat, or a dog, or a gazelle or any other beast that will follow man? Besides, I enjoy the company of lobsters. They are quiet; they are serious; they know the secrets of the sea; they do not bark."

At the Breakfast Table.

"What a lovely morning!" said mother as she seated herself behind the coffee cups. "And yesterday the weather man prophesied rain!"

TRADES THAT CURE ILLS.

If You Want to Drive Away Disease, Turn Shepherd.

"Oil workers are never bald," said a druggist. "Visit our oil regions or those of Russia. Examine the workmen's hair. It is soft and thick and glossy, for petroleum cures incipient baldness, and if your hair is thinning rub some in. Never mind the smell. It will do you good.

"Shepherds enjoy remarkable health. The odd odor of a sheep seems to drive away disease. Sheep are especially good for whooping cough. In the sheep country when a child takes the whooping cough it is the custom for the mother to put it to play among the sheep, and the next day it is well.

"The men and women who work among lavender, gathering it or distilling it, never have neuralgia or nervous headache. Lavender, moreover, is as good as a sea voyage for giving tone to the system. Run down persons often work for nothing in lavender plants in order to build themselves up.

"Salt miners can wear summer clothes in blizzard weather without fear of catching cold, for colds are unknown among salt workers. Breweries and tanneries and printing ink factories bar out consumption. Turpentine works and ropewalks bar out rheumatism. Copper mines bar out typhoid."—New York Press.

When Chloroform Was New.

Here is a curious little story about Sir James Simpson, the man who introduced the use of chloroform into surgery, and a peril which he escaped, as recorded by Lyon Playfair. Simpson when busy with his researches into the subject of anaesthetics called one day on Playfair and asked if he had anything new likely to produce anaesthesia. Playfair had just prepared a liquid which seemed worthy of trial. Simpson, who knew no fear, prepared instantly to test it on himself. This Playfair refused to allow until it had first been tried on rabbits. Two were procured and placed under the effects of the anaesthetic. Next day Simpson proposed to try it on himself. "We might as well see how the rabbits have fared," said Playfair. They found both the animals dead.

The Christian Sunday.

The keeping of Sunday, the first day of the week, as a sacred day in memory of the resurrection and of the descent of the Holy Ghost dates from the beginning of Christianity. It was called the Lord's day in all the churches, but gradually acquired the name of Sun-day from the Romans, who called the first day of the week dies solis, or day sacred to the sun. The first official recognition of Sunday as a holy day is in an edict of the Roman Emperor Constantine in 321 ordering that all work should cease in the cities "on the venerable Sunday," but permitting necessary farm work to be attended to.—St. Louis Republic.

MONSTROUS PLOT AGAINST MINERS

ers or railroad men had any part in the Independence wreck; denied that he had a mania for confessing uncommitted crimes and denied that he is under the influence of Detective McPartland. He showed some spirit in answering many of Attorney Richardson's questions, but he firmly held to all of his first stories and was calm and certain throughout the long trying examination.

Two more crimes were brought home to Orchard today. He confessed that he burned a cheese factory in one case to get $500 insurance. He said he began his life of crime by selling cheese at short weight. Counsel for the State let today's examination take its course without serious objection, and at the close privately signified their entire satisfaction. Orchard has been on the stand five days and has fully two more to serve.

Steve Adams tonight is again in the county jail and is a close cell neighbor of the other prisoners. He is for the present incummunicado. His custodians say that he is sullen and will refuse to say a word when called to the stand.

Miners Are Loyal.

Denver, Col., June 10.—Two hundred delegates to the 15th annual convention of the Western Federation of Miners were present here today when Acting President C. E. Mahoney called the assembly to order. Ontario, British Columbia, Alaska and Mexico were represented, as well as all the other States.

No opposition to continuing in office President Charles H. Moyer and Secretary-Treasurer William D. Haywood, has been expressed by any of the delegates, and the convention today sent the following telegram to Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone at Boise:

"Fifteenth annual convention sends greetings. Confident of your innocence and we are with you until your honor is vindicated and your freedom assured.

"C. E. MAHONEY."

JAPS STIRRING UP TROUBLE

Raising Big Fund to Defeat Ratification of Exlusion.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Washington, June 10.—Thousands of dollars are being raised by the Japanese of the Pacific coast to carry out the compact they have entered into with the progresive party of Japan for the overthrow of the Saionji ministry, the annulment of the exclusion clause in the immigration bill, and the guarantee of the naturalization rights of the Japanese subjects residing in this country. These additional facts in the international plot were vouched for in semi-official circles tonight. The enormous fund which is being collected will be used to arouse a feeling in the Japanese empire antagonistic to the American government.

Notwithstanding the sweeping denial of the existence of the alliance between the Japanese of the Pacific coast and the progressives, the anti-administration party in Japan, given out by Chas. Takahashira, the Associated Press today secured the text of certain reports which he forwarded to Yokohama from Seattle and to the Japanese Society of Seattle.

As a matter of fact, Colonel Scott says the conduct of the negro troops since they have been at West Point has been admirable and flawless; indeed, he says, it has been much better than that of the white regulars who preceded them at the post.

It was stated by those in authority that it was not expected any definite development would occur before Wednesday or Thursday, after the meeting of the board of directors of the Western Union Telegraph Company on Wednesday.

French Schooner Goes Down in Squall Off Barbadoes.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Barbadoes, June 10.—Twenty-eight passengers, including twelve women and children, were drowned by the sinking of the French schooner La-Jalouse from Cayenne, for St. Lucia. The schooner sank 30 miles off Barbados last Friday night. Her captain and twenty-one men reached Barbados yesterday. The women and children were below when the schooner was struck by the squall that capsized her, and had no chance for their lives.

The extradition proceedings against Germia Kern, alias Thomas, of Knoxville, Tenn., were begun at Toronto, Canada, yesterday. Kern was a pawn broker at Knoxville. While bankruptcy proceedings were on it is alleged he was seen iwth goods worth $26,000. The Toronto police have secured at least $5,400 in cash, 20 gold watches and other goods.

THE FIRST LIGHTHOUSE.

It Was Built on the Island of Pharos, Near Alexandria.

The first lighthouse ever erected for the benefit of the mariners was that built by the famous architect, Sostratus, by command of Ptolemy Philadelphus, king of Egypt, between 285-247 B. C. It was built near Alexandria on an island called Pharos, and there was expended upon it about 800 talents, or over a million dollars.

Ptolemy has been much commended by some ancient writers for his liberality in allowing the architect to inscribe his name instead of his own. The inscription reads, "Sostratus, son of Dexiphanes, to the protecting deities for the use of seafaring people." This tower was deemed one of the seven wonders of the world and was thought of sufficient grandeur to immortalize the builder.

It appears from Lucian, however, that Ptolemy does not deserve any praise for disinterestedness on this score or Sostratus any great praise for his honesty, as it is stated that the latter, to engross in after times the glory of the structure, caused the inscription with his own name to be carved in the marble, which he afterward covered with lime and thereon put the king's name.

In process of time the lime decayed, and the inscription on the marble alone remained.

Saved by Ghouls.

Misson in his "Medical Anecdotes" tells of a woman, the wife of a consul, who was buried alive in Cologne in 1577. She was dressed for the tomb in gay attire, with jewels, as on her wedding day. Robbers came at night and were taking the rings from her damp and swollen fingers when she suddenly sat bolt upright, stared at them and smiled. They fled in terror, and the lady rose and walked home, where she was received at first with fear, afterward with great joy. She lived many years afterward in perfect health.

LONG AND SHORT DAYS.

Where the Sun Never Sets For Three and a Half Months.

The length of day or night a man prefers is merely a matter of choice and the ability to get to the proper place. If any one is not satisfied with what he gets at home there is an assortment of daytime which ranges from three hours' duration to three months and a half, from which he may take his pick. On the other hand, he can play the nighthawk for from two hours and a half up.

At Wanderbus, in Norway, the day lasts from May 21 to July 22 without interruption, and at Spitsbergen the longest day lasts three and a half months.

At Tornea, in Finland, the longest day has twenty-one hours and a half and the shortest two and a half.

At St. Petersburg and Tobolsk the longest has nineteen and the shortest five hours.

At Stockholm and Upsala the longest day has eighteen and a half hours. At Hamburg, Dantsic and Stettin the longest day has seventeen hours and the shortest seven.

At Berlin and London the longest day has sixteen and a half hours and the shortest about eight.

The Favorite Girl.

She is the girl who is not "too bright and too good" to be able to find joy and pleasure all over the world, says the Chicago News.

She is the girl who appreciates the fact that she cannot always have the first choice of everything in the world.

She is the girl who is not aggressive and does not find joy in inciting aggressive people.

She is the girl who has tact enough not to say the very thing that will cause the skeleton in her friends' closet to rattle his bones.

She is the girl who, whether it is warm or cold, clear or stormy, finds no fault with the weather.

She is the girl who when you invite her to any place compliments you by looking her best.

She is the girl who makes this world a pleasant place because she is so pleasant herself.

The National Capital.

It is claimed that Washington is the cleanest city in the United States. If they were so disposed the ladies might wear their best afternoon gowns on the street without having them soiled. The general cleanliness of Washington is due to the noticeable absence of factories with their soft coal smoke, and the asphalt streets are kept so clean that there is little dust or dirt in the air. An almost forgotten fact is that Washington was first called Rome, and a creek which flowed through the site of the city was spoken of as the Tiber. Oddly enough, the first owner of the land upon which the capital is now located was named Pope.—Philadelphia Press.

Spool Thread Numbers.

Spools of thread of different qualities are all numbered alike, irrespective of factory or maker. The reason for this is that the system of measurement of sewing cotton is practically universal, and when 840 yards of yarn weigh 7,000 grains (a pound of cotton) the makers mark it No. 1. If 1,680 yards of yarn weigh a pound it is marked No. 2, and so on, each progressive number signifying that 840 yards more are required to weigh a pound.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—Hamlet will in the near future have another wholesale grocery store, and also a large department store.

—At Winston-Salem on Saturday licenses were granted to 13 liquor saloons.

—The Robeson County Superior Court for the trial of civil cases will convene at Lumberton June 17th and the criminal term July 1st. Judge Webb will preside.

—A severe hailstorm visited Saulston township, Wayne county, last Wednesday afternoon, working widespread destruction to crops. It is said that Mr. Geo. W. Best had one hundred acres of cotton completely destroyed, which he is busy planting over again. Rev. Jacob F. Hill, B. A. Parks, Clarence Thompson, Elijah Vinson and others suffered severely.

—Lumberton, June 9: The passenger train due here at 6:45 was delayed Friday evening for 5 hours. The tender jumped the track four miles beyond Councils, tearing up about 270 yards of crossties. No one was hurt. Conductor Jones waited for a relief engine. They reached here about 1 o'clock A. M.

—Newbern not only has a new railroad, but has an elegant new hotel nearing completion, "The Gaston," erected by Mr. W. B. Blades, who is doing so much for Newbern. The Newbern Journal declares that The Gaston "will without doubt, be the peer of any hotel in the South." Col. Frank P. Morton will be the manager.

—Lumberton, June 9: Mr. Jefferson Newberry, an aged citizen of this place, has been granted a patent on a shoe and leather polish by the United States Patent Office. He has been at work on this polish for a number of years. One application is guaranteed to last six months. Mr. Newberry has received a number of letters from probable purchasers, but as yet has taken no definite action.

—Williamston, June 8: There was quite a severe hail storm near Spring Green, about six miles from here. The storm did a great deal of damage to the crops as well as to the farm lands. Below Jamesville and in Lilley's School House section, crops were destroyed. One field of tobacco, where the plants were about knee high, was cut down as clean as if it had been done by a mowing machine. Cotton was destroyed and the farmers were out hunting for cotton seed. This latter section was nearly cleaned of all growing crops.

—Barium Springs, N. C., June 9: Miss Lois Boyd, who recently graduated with honor from the Women's Medical College, of Baltimore, has been elected resident physician for Winthrop College, at Rock Hill, S. C. At present she is resident physician, by appointment at the Good Samaritan Hospital, of Baltimore, but will take a vacation at home before entering upon her duties at Winthrop in the Fall. Miss Boyd has taken a high stand in her classes throughout her college course and enters her profession with enthusiasm. She is a daughter of Rev. R. W. Boyd, of Barium Springs.

—Charlotte Observer, June 10: Mr. J. Bis Ray, of Burnsville, in talking with an Observer man of the progress and development of his section of the State, said: "Our mica mines are among the most interesting natural resources of the South. There is a mine within five miles of Bakersville. Mr. W. L. Lambert, who has an option on it, was offered $100,000 for the option one day two weeks ago. Mica that has been wasted heretofore is bringing a handsome profit now. Its use as an insulator for electrical purposes is making the smaller pieces very valuable and is rendering our mines profitable. Sheet mica that brought 30 and 40 cents for stoves, now brings 80 and 90 cents for electrical machines. The counties of Mitchell and Yancey sell about $100,000 of the stuff a year. Pieces that were thrown away in former years are taken out and ground into fine dust like snuff now and put in wall paper to make it shine."

—Smithfield Herald: We have heard a good deal said about the hail of last Sunday. From near Peacock's Cross Roads it traveled easterly. From the neighborhood of Mr. H. M. Johnson, Mr. J. D. Wood, near Zealand Freewill Baptist Church, Mr. W. N. Rose, Mr. D. H. Williams, and Bentonville we hear of hail, but only slight damage to crops. After it crossed Neuse river, in the eastern part of the county it was very severe. Below the Major W. A. Smith farm, in some places, it is said to have ruined the crops. The hail area was only about a mile wide. It fell about ten o'clock. At four o'clock Mr. J. M. Oliver visited the hail-stricken section and he says that in some places the hail drifted together by the wind measured over a foot deep, when he reached the place. Some tenants were talking of quitting their crops as they were so badly damaged.

HAIR TELLS CHARACTER.

Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament.

Many people believe that blonde, or light hair denotes affection and dark hair constancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character; far from it. The disposition of the average baldheaded man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others, that he neglects himself. A germ causes baldness. Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, inoculated a rabbit with Dandruff germs, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of these dangerous germs it is necessary to apply Newbro's Herpicide.

"Destroy the cause—you remove the effect."

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co. Detroit. Mich.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, June 10.—The cotton market was nervous and irregular with the near positions holding generally firm while the new crop was easier under realizing or liquidation. The close was barely steady at an advance of 5 points to a decline of 25 points with all the new crop months well under last Saturday's closing figures. Sales were estimated at 400,000 bales. Opening was barely steady at advance of 2 points to a decline of 11 points, the new crop months being 4 to 11 points lower in response to lawer cables than expected and favorable weather reports for over the week end. July was relatively firm from the start, owing to continued uneasiness among shorts and bull support. Trading was very active immediately following the call and at first prices were a shade better on a very bullish acreage and condition report from New Orleans. It was expected that the better weather of the past week would lead to a bearish showing by the weekly bureau at noon tomorrow, however, and the market soon weakened under liquidation by outside longs and selling by local professional and were slightly rallied during the day and at one time July sold at 12.10 or ten points net higher, but the close was at practically the lowest point of the session.

Receipts at the ports today estimated 4,000 bales against 3,160 last week and 5,169 last year. For the week 30,000 against 29,843 last week and 29,770 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 2,170 bales against 948 last year at Houston 413 bales against 455 last year.

Spot cotton closed steady; middling uplands, 13.25; middling Gulf, 13.50. Sales, 200 bales. Futures closed barely steady.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, June 10.—The dry goods market was more quiet today and the disposition to push lines for Spring 1908 is lessening in several quarters. The jobbers did a better trade for the day owing to warmer and more favorable weather conditions. Many buyers are in the market. The lines of men's wear are doing well; others are dull. Heavy cotton goods are firm.

GEORGIA DAY AT JAMESTOWN

President Roosevelt Delivered Address and Throng Gave Him Tremendous Ovation.

GREAT NAVAL INSPECTION

Americans and Foreign Ships Fired 1,806 Guns in Honor of President's Visit—Secretary of Navy Metcalf Participated.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Exposition Grounds, Norfolk, Va., June 10.—The Jamestown Exposition management has determined to look upon today, the occasion of President Roosevelt's second visit, as the real opening. The President lost no opportunity to voice his approval of the showing made since the backward opening of the exposition on April 26, and with this high endorsement the management feels that it is position to advertise an attraction for which apologies need not be made. This was Georgia Day, and the opening of Bulloch Hall, a replica of the early home of President Roosevelt's mother, at Roswell, erected as the Georgia State building, was the feature that drew the President to the exposition for a second visit.

From the moment the President and Mrs. Roosevelt and their distinguished guests were landed at the government pier at 10:50 o'clock until their departure at 4:37 o'clock, every minute was occupied. The President spoke in the Georgia ceremonies from the reviewing stand, and in the afternoon addressed the convention of the National Editorial Association in the Exposition Auditorium. On both occasions he was given an enthusiastic welcome. He visited the Georgia Building and the negro exhibit, and in his drives over the grounds thousands of people lined the streets and gave him a continuous ovation.

The schedule arranged in advance was followed to the letter, and when the Mayflower weighed anchor at 5 o'clock and the party started on its return trip to Washington an unusually strenuous day was closed without an incident of note having occurred. The police arrangement for the handling of the great crowd was so excellent as to call forth favorable comment on every side.

The naval review of men-of-war in Hampton Roads and the reception of the commanders of American and foreign vessels which preceded the President's arrival at the grounds, and the military review of Lee parade following the President's forenoon address were the same as on the opening day, with the exception of some difference in the personnel of the participants.

It was a distinguished party that reviewed the assembled war vessels from the Mayflower. Immediately upon the arrival of that vessel the party of Secretary of the Navy Metcalf was transferred from the Dolphin. The others to join the President were Governor J. M. Terrell, of Georgia, and W. N. Mitchell, of the Georgia State Commission.

Passing over the same course as when he visited the Exposition on the opening day, the President viewed the fleets of seven nations, six in addition to the United States. The sea fighters were in gala attire, the flags of the different countries represented making a striking picture. As the Mayflower steamed down the long column of vessels each in turn greeted the President, who occupied the bridge of his trim yacht, with a salute of 21 guns. The foreign vessels had the positions of honor in a line nearest and parallel to the Exposition grounds, and were reached first by the Mayflower, so that their guns were the first to be heard in sounding their salutation.

Either black or dark drab, the vessels of Austria-Hungary, Brazil, France, Italy, The Netherlands and Portugal appeared in sharp contrast to the Atlantic fleet of 33 vessels under the command of Rear Admiral Evans, the ships being dressed in the usual peace paint of white for the hulls and buff for the superstructure. The five American torpedo boat destroyers were in dark green and this caused many persons to believe they belonged to the foreign representation.

The Mayflower approached the three columns of floating fortresses from the east and the Connecticut, Admiral Evans' flagship, fired the first gun of the Presidential salute. In a flash the other American ships and the foreign vessels caught the signal and the firing continued simultaneously. As the Mayflower pointed her way along the line of foreign vessels a new series of salutes was begun, and repeated by each and every vessel in the Roads, making in all 1,806 cannon shots in the two President's salutes. During the salutes the white puffs of powder smoke floated away like tiny flecks of Summer clouds amid the fluttering flags of the decorated ships. Each foreign and American ship's crew manned the rails as the President passed in review. The crews were drawn in close order along the forward and quarter decks and elevators of the superstructure, and stood at attention as the Mayflower skirted each line. Completing the circuit, the Mayflower came to her anchorage within the group of flagships and immediately the President received on board the flag officers of the Atlantic fleet. The foreign flag and commanding officers were then received and in departing they proceeded to the Exposition grounds, where they went ashore at Discovery Landing. A few minutes later they were followed by the President in the barge of the commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, accompanied by the members of his party.

President Roosevelt found things in much better condition than when he was here before and didn't hesitate to commend the progress that had been made in improving the appearance of the grounds. He was greatly interested to learn that a squad of more than a hundred representative business men of Norfolk and the surrounding towns should use picks and shovels on Saturday improving the grounds. These men worked the entire day with negro laborers, clearing away debris, and a similar squad took their places on Sunday. The men were not connected in any official capacity with the Exposition, but had the interest of the community at large at heart. Labor was not to be had for money.

At Discovery Landing a salute to the President was fired, during which time the President and members of his party and the reception committee stood with bared heads. The party then marched to carriages and drove through a guard of honor formed by the Georgia troops, the cadets of the Military and Naval Academies and the Virginia Military Institute, drawn up in open ranks.

VIRGINIA BEACH HAS DISASTER

Princess Anne Hotel Totally Destroyed by Fire Early Monday Morning

THREE PEOPLE PERISHED

Manager A. C. Mitchell, of Asheville, Frantic Over His Heavy Loss and Jumped Into Ocean—Money and Jewels Burned.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Norfolk, Va., June 10.—The famous Princess Anne Hotel at Virginia Beach, Virginia, built 25 years ago and one of the handsomest Summer resort hotels along the middle Atlantic Seaboard, was destroyed by fire which had its origin early today in the kitchen, supposedly from a defective flue. In two hours the entire hotel building together with the Norfolk and Southern depot, the Bowling alley, hotel laundry, engine house, the office of the Virginia Beach Development Company and all the board walk in front of the hotel had been wiped away. There were 110 persons, guests and employes in the hotel at the time. All are thought to have escaped with the exception of Emma Clark, a negro chamber maid, John Eaton, the white steward and an unknown special guest of Manager Mitchell. That a score or more persons were not lost is attributed to the great heroism of Carl Boeschen, a young sergeant, with the Richmond Light Artillery Blues, who, rushing from room to room, awakened the sleeping occupants, many of whom barely escaped in their night clothes. Boeschen finally fell exhausted and had to be borne from the burning building. The loss to the building is $185,000 only $83,000 insurance. Manager A. C. Mitchell, of Asheville, N. C., had no insurance. The hotel safe, in which the heavy receipts of yesterday and thousands of dollars worth of valuables placed therein by guests yesterday for safe keeping, was not locked and its entire contents, were lost when the building collapsed.

A large number of prominent people from different parts of the country took refuge in cottages near by. But for the work of a bucket brigade made up principally of women cottagers, led by Mrs. Tucker, daughter of the Episcopal Bishop co-adjutor of Southern Virginia, the entire ocean front of their cottages north of the hotel would have been wiped out. The negro women worked with the white like trojans while negro men stood by and offered no assistance. Among those who had narrow escapes and had to get out in their night clothes were Mrs. R. E. Scale, the aged sister of Governor Wilson, of West Virginia; Mrs. H. D. Flourney, wife of former Congressman Flourney, of West Virginia; Mrs. Carlisle, of Chattanooga, and Mrs. Marks, of Cleveland, O., all of whom were heavy losers in both money and jewels.

The Princess Anne hotel up to a few months ago had been run by the recent purchasers, the Princess Anne Investment Corporation, composed of leading Norfolk people. Manager Mitchell then took the hotel under a five year lease, putting up $10,000 in cash, all of which he loses.

Manager Mitchell, frantic as a result of the fire and his great loss, sought today to end his life by jumping into the ocean but was restrained by friends. Manager Mitchell's sister from Asheville, N. C., was among last night's arrivals who lost everything and barely escaped with her life. The unknown special guest of Manager Mitchell is believed to have perished, unless Manager Mitchell's mental condition improves his name can't be learned.

MONSTROUS PLOT AGAINST MINERS

In Trial of W. D. Haywood at Boise Idaho, That is Defense.

ORCHARD USED AS TOOL

Mine Owners Charged With Hiring Orchard for Undoing of Officials of Federation of Miners—Orchard as Poisoner.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Boise, Idaho, June 10.—Into the further examination of Harry Orchard today, counsel for William D. Haywood, repeatedly threw out the suggestion of a great conspiracy, formulated and carried out by the enemies of the Western Federation of Miners and indicating a determination to construct their main line of defence on that field. They carried Orchard by slow steps through the minutest detail, from the dynamiting of the Independence, Colorado, station, down to the attempt on the life of Bradley and his family in San Francisco. In addition to a series of particular attacks on the credibility of the witness and the general probability of his stories and preparing the way for their own testimony in rebuttal, the defense sought to show that Orchard had a mania for boasting of the commission of crimes non-existent except in his own mind and that he is testifying under the control and suggestion of Detective McPartland. The defense began today by making it clear that as far as Orchard knew, Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone had nothing to do with the inspiration, planning and execution of the Vindicator mine explosion and that Haywood and Moyer had nothing to do with the planning of the murder of Detective Gregory. Passing on to the dynamiting of the Independence station, the first crime with which the testimony of Orchard directly connects Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone, the defense then endeavored to show that Orchard in springing the mine had purposely sought to spare the oncoming train and the non-union men who were expected to entrain and that the whole plot was engineered by agents of mine owners and railway managers, who wanted a comparatively harmless "outrage" to injure the union miners who were on strike.

Leaving the Independence station crime, which was followed by the flight of Orchard into Wyoming and then his unexpected return to Denver, the defense sought to discredit the story that Haywood directed Orchard to kill Andy Mayberry by showing that Haywood and Mayberry were intimate friends.

Getting down to the Bradley crime, the defense devoted itself largely to the story of Orchard's attempt to poison Bradley, endangering the entire Bradley household. Orchard swore that while in San Francisco he repeatedly received money from Pettibone, who used the name of "Pat Bone" in transmitting it. In making this clearer the defense gave evidence of a plan to show that this money was sent under Pettibone's disguised name by persons plotting against the leaders of the Western Federation of Miners.

Starting for California, "to get Bradley," Orchard said Pettibone bought his ticket and gave him $150 and a new grip sack. In San Francisco he stayed the first two weeks, in August, 1904, at the Golden West Hotel. From there he went to a boarding place in Tenth street. Bradley was in Alaska when Orchard reached San Francisco. While waiting for him, Orchard spent a part of his time at Calientes Springs. Orchard heard neither from Haywood nor Moyer while in California, but received several letters from Pettibone. These he destroyed immediately after reading them.

"Why didn't you save them, so you could have a hold on Pettibone in case he ever flew the track line?" asked Richardson.

"I wasn't thinking about getting anything on him. I didn't have any desire to."

The first money received from Pettibone in California was $100, which came in a registered letter. Pettibone said in the letter that things were getting warm in Colorado; that Johnny Neville and the boy had been arrested and the authorities were looking for Orchard. He said that Orchard had better "lay low." The money was in $20 bills. Orchard received some of the money in the name of Harry Green. The witness then repeated his story about putting strychnine in the Bradley family's milk. Orchard had become acquainted with the cook and had once taken her to the heatre. The man said he was aware that the family consisted of Bradley, his wife, a baby and three servant girls. Referring to the money, Orchard said he did not know to whom the return registered card was addressed. He thought the money came from Wolfe. The next money, another $100 came by postal telegraph from "Pat Bone."

"Did you, while you were in San Francisco, go out one night ot he end of the car line at Golden Gate Park and hold up a street car conductor?" asked Richardson.

"No, sir."

"Did you ever tell any one you did it?"

"Yes, I believe I did."

"Then you confessed to a crime you did not commit."

"Yes."

"And you have confessed to other crimes you never committed?"

"I have told such stories among men when we were all telling stories."

Altogether Orchard said he had got about $550 while in San Francisco.

Orchard denied that the mine own-
